Jamaica Treaty not Fair to Us.

California Would Suffer Under Its Terms.

Senator Perkins Points Out the Peculiar Features.

River and Harbor Bill Passes the House-Date for Vote on Army Bill.

ASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The California Congressional delegation had another hearing today before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the Jamaican reciprocity treaty. Special Commissioner Kasson of the State Department was present in support of the treaty. Senator Perkins acted as spokesman for the Californians, and got into a tilt with Kasson over some peculiarities of this treaty. Senator Perkins rasped Kasson most, when, in discussing the peculiar coincidence of an increase with Jamaica's customs tariffs that came just as this treaty was being negotiated, he asked Kasson if he had given England a tip so that she increased these tariffs just at the right moment. Of course Kasson put in an indignant denial.

Then Senator Perkins explained fully (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

in an indignant denial.

Then Senator Perkins explained fully to the Foreign Relations Committee what he had partly explained heretofore this week, that just as this treaty was being negotiated, the Jamaican tariffs were shoved up so that when the alleged reductions of the tariff were figured under the treaty, it was found that there had been no actual reduction. Jamaica gave the United States of the committee of the committee that there had been no actual reduction. Jamaica gave the United States are foodstuffs after the state of the my first objections to it were based on the fact that the tariff which it was proposed to establish would work great injury to American producers of augar, citrus fruits, pineapples and vegetables with which the products and importations from Jamaica would come into immediate and direct competition. It is unquestionable that negro labor in Jamaica could and would, if opportunity furnished, by removing existing protection, underbid free white lais unquestionable that negro labor in Jamaica could and would, if opportunity furnished, by removing existing protection, underbid free white labor in California, Florida and other Southern States in the products referred to. The tens of millions of dolars invested in orange orchards, beetsugar mills, pineries and truck gardens in California and the South would have their profits practically extinguished. California would be the greatest sufferer, as the present tariff on citrus fruits is fixed at a figure which simply offset the excess in the cost of rail carriage across the continent, when compared with importations from the tropics, The effect of the reduction proposed by the treaty would be to shut the castern market against California raisers of citrus fruits. That interest, alone, is too great for Congress to permit it to be injured, certainly not without some great and general benefit can be secured in return, which benefit the injured interest can share.

"In studying the proposed treaty in connection with former Jamaican tariffs, I have been forced to the conclusion that the treaty should be rejected on the general grounds that it confers practically no benefits on this country in return for very great reductions in tariff on the most important exports of Jamaica. The first point which appears in the study of the question is that since the passage of a tariff act providing for reciprocity, two men tariffs have been promulgated in Jamaica, each successively increasing the duty on American goods to that its reciprocity provisions, and was to continue in operation only until April 30, 1898. Within this time, negotations for a treaty of reciprocity with Jamaica must have been commenced, for July 22, 1899, the convention which is now under consideration, was signed. May 4, 1899, and before the convention was signed, a new tariff was enacted in Jamaica which continues in f-re- until June 1, 1906. This date singularly coincides with the time when the proposed treaty, if approved, will expire by limitation.

"Both of these treaties, only the for-mer of which appears to have been printed in any government publication, increased the rates of duty on Ameri-can products entering Januaica. These products are foodstuffs almost exclu-sively, nearly all of which products in-safe from President McKinley, to the policy of reciprocity. This point the Californians did not answer. In discussing the treaty before the committee today, Senator Perkins said in substance the following:

be no change. Compared with the tariff previous to 1888, the rates would be increased in five instances, petroleum, oats, lard, cottonseed oil and peas and beans, and reduced in the cases of lumstance the following:

Defends the Right of Acquisition.

Annexation Political, and Not a Problem for Supreme Court.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The following address on "The Constitution and Our New Possessions—An Answer to ex-President Harrison," was delivered before the New York State Bar Association at its annual meeting at Albany today by Charles A. Gardiner of the bar of New York City. He said in part!

fore this association two years ago. The problem then so momentous has passed from the stage of controversy into final judgment. The right to acquire and govern is now conceded; for two years Congress and the President have exercised it, and in the last election the action of the people's representatives was sustained by the overwhelming vote of the people them-rise up to call it accursed?

SUPREME COURT'S POWERS.

"But' these questions will soon be decided by the Supreme Court,' says Gen. Harrison. That is impossible. The Supreme Court cannot and will not decide them; and even if it attempted to do so, its action would be revolutionary and void. Can it mandamus the President? Can it enjoin the Congress? Can it prohibit this sovereign nation from exercising its sovereignty over conquered territory? Unless it overrules the precedents of a century, and repudiates a practice that has prevailed since its foundation, the court will decide only problems of a strictly judicial character, refuse to pass on those of a political nature, and relegate their further consideration to the political departments of the government. It will thus settle few, if any, of the great problems discussed by Gen. Harrison, and now agitating the American public.

"Undoubtedly the court will follow the construction of national power, first laid down by Chief Justice Marehall and uniformly adhered to since, that this is a sovereign nation and can annex territory absolutely or sub mode, and upon any terms and conditions it pleases. Having decided this much, it will logically follow that it must dismiss from further consideration the propriety of the particular terms of annexation, as matters within the exclusive jurisdiction of the President and Congress.

"If annexation be constitutional, all appropriate means ot affecting it are constitutional, and to inquire into the overwheiming vote of the people them-selves.

"The problems now before the na-tion arise from the government of our new possessions. In his recent Ann Arbor address, Gen. Harrison dis-cussed them with such profound learn-ing and fervor of conviction that his opinions demand the serious considera-tion of every American. He bases his entire argument on the self expan-sion of the Constitution. Annexation ipso facto, he says extends the docu-ment over annexed territory. It be-comes operative therein proprio vigore, and confers on the inhabitants our bill of rights and the civil and politi-cal franchises of American citizens. Congress, therefore, cannot govern the islands with plenary power, but is subject to all constitutional limita-tions."

icy reseived its first practical and, definite expression in the transmission to Congress by President Harrison on February IS, 1823, of a treaty providing for the immediate annexation of Hawaii. He then said: The treaty does not attempt to deal in detail with the questions that grow out of the annexation. . . The commissioners representing the Hawaiian government have consented to leave to the future and to the just and besevolent purposes of the United States the adjustment of all such questions. If it meets the approval of the Senate, peace and good order will be secured in the islands under existing law until such time as Congress can provide by legislation a permanent form of government for the islands.

HARRISON'S DILEMMA.

HARRISON'S DILEMMA.

"Gen. Harrison is here confronted with a distressing dilemma. Was he right in 1833, or is he right now? He urged Congress to annex immediately, but only sub modo, as we have annexed Porto Rico and the Philippines, and then the operation of the Constitution and Federal statutes was to be suspended until such time as Congress can provide by legislation a permanent form of government. For a year after ratification, and pending Congressional action, Hawaii was also to retain its separate tariff laws, and its Chinese inhabitants were forever excluded from CLARK CHOSEN that initiated by Gen. Harrison. "Again, he urged that all questions arising out of annexation should be left to the future and to the just and benevolent, purposes of the United States." When President McKinley issued his instructions for the government of the Philippines, he not only followed the Hawalian precedent, but adopted Gen. Harrison's language—be guaranteed the Filipinos a 'just and benevolent government' according to the principles and 'purposes of the United States.' And yet Gen. Harrison now—seven years later—bitterly attacks his own policy. Referring to Porto Ricans and Filipinos, he says: 'We offer them only this highly consolatory thought: Seventy-six millions of free Americans can be trusted to deal benevolently with you.' The man whose protection from wrong rests wholly upon the benevolence of another man or of a Congress is a slave.' Our tathers accounted that to hold these things (rights) upon the tenure of another man's benevolence was not to hold them at all.' "Gen. Harrison makes his plea to the equity bar of the American people. He has arraigned the administration, its policy and practice. He must conform to equity rules. He who would seek equity must do equity. He must conform to equity rules. But he is disbarred from court. condemned out of his own month. FOR SENATOR.

This court disclaims all pretensions to such power (4 Wheat, 433.) Otherwise, as Mr. Justice Miller explained, the court could annul declarations of war, suspend the levy of armics, and become a great international arbite instead of a court of justice for the administration of the laws of the United States" (1 Woolw, 154.) about the streets at an early hour this morning.

Mrs. Howell is the wife of S. R. Howell, who a few years ago was a member of the firm of Howell Bros, in which Secretary of the Treasury Loman J. Gage was financially interested. At one time Howell Bros, all but cornered the eastern lumber Jiarket, and had a big fortune almost assured. At that time the firm was reputed to be worth millions, but the corner was broken, unfortunately for the Howells, and they lost heavily.

Mrs. Howell's mental collapse is due mainly to financial troubles, which have developed out of her mining enterprises in this State. When her husband lost his fortune some years ago she sought to retrieve it in mining ventures in this State, and in the effort she is said to have been assisted by Secretary Gage. She is at present interested in the Bollithia mine, near Angels Camp, and a property at Poker Bar, near Lowden's ranch.

Secretary Gage was advised by wire of the woman's predicament in order that he might inform her husband, whose whereabouts was unknown here.

Upon Mrs. Howell's, person when she was found were a number of diamonds, considerable money and severavaluable papers. It is believed that Mrs. Howell's insanity is the result of worry, and that if she is properly cared for she will recover.

Senator Bard Trying to Have Indian Bill Amended.

INT DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 .-Senator Bard appeared before the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs today and tried toget the Indian appropriations for California straightened out. Senator Bard is particularly anxious to get an item of $1500 for the salary of Agent Wright put back into the bill. This item was stricken out by the House Committee before the bill had passed the House. The Senator now has hopes that the Senate Committee will put this item into the bill, although there are no positive assurances to be had upon that point. Then Senator Bard wanted to get an appropriation for having an inspector sent out to investigate the conditions and needs of the Mission Indisns. He had an amendment to that effect inserted, but a paragraph had been put into the bill making provision for ten such inspectors, who will investigate the condition of the Indians wherever necessary, which covers the Mission Indian case.

Death, Walter McAlister and Andrew Campbell, the three men on trial for the murder, went upon the stand in their own behalf and told their own story of the events on the night when Jennie Bosschieter met her death, while in their company. They told the same story practically, and their testimony varied but little as to details. The pleas set up by counsel for the three defendants was a general and specific denial of all the accusations made against the men.
McAlister, Death and Campbell were each on the stand. Their testimony the accusations made against the men.

McAlister, Death and Campbell were each on the stand. Their testimony was on the line that they were acting on a generous impulse when they took the girl out of a saloon to the hack. They claim that she was "jolly drunk" for a time in the back room of Saal's saloon; said she was joking and laughing after the first drink; that she became "dopy" after taking the absinthe, and then became dead drunk. They had thought a drive in the fresh sir would do her good, and had taken her across the river out into the country. The assault was denied.

The hack, it welld appear from the statements made by the prisoners, was not intended for the party-at first, but for McAlister, Kerr and two young women whose names McAlister refused to divulge on the ground that their names had not been mentioned before, and he did not want' cause them antory and reasonable, but conflicted with the testimony of the hackman and the alleged confessions of Death and Campbell, as introduced by the State and admitted as evidence. The State, which was beaten yesterday in the effort to introduce the confession said to have been made by Campbell, succeeded in getting it all in, in even more detailed manner than would have been possible yesterday.

Tomorrow, the summing so will occur and probably the case will be left with the jury about sundown, although it may be that Judge Dixori will defer the charge to the Jury until Friday.

In return, we give Jamaica a reduction of 20 per cent. on $372,233 worth of exports to the United States, 12½ per cent. on $673,693 worth, and admit free of duty, $2,777,194 worth, feaving subject to duty only $184,267 worth of products of the islands, some of which, however, would be found already on our free list, if time were taken to compare the items with our tariff law.

"Now, as to the general balance of benefits: It has been shown that while the percentage of reductions on American goods appear considerable, they leave our producers worse off than they were previous to May, 1898. The actual reductions in duties on American goods collected in Jamaica, on the hasts of the tariff of 1899, that before the committee would amount to $154,873 on the commerce of 1897-98. For imports into the United States for the same fiscal year the remission of duties on Jamaican products amounts to $143,851. There thus apparently is an excess of $11,822 in benefits to the United States over those granted to Jamaica by this treaty. But while three very important industries of the United States are thrown open to disastrous competition and our own producers are not able to export their revolutes.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 18.—An unidentified young man committed suicide today by jumping from the middle span of the Eads bridge into the main channel of the Mississippi River, 100 feet below. The suicide was well dressed and apparently about 27 years old.

Champion Athletes Barred.

PHILADELPHIS, Jan. 16.—Tewksbury, the famous runner, and Baxter, the champion high jumper, are likely to be deciared ineligible to represent the University of Pennsylvania this season. So far as can be learned Baxter is taking only one course in the department of law, and this course requires an attendance of but two hours a week. This may probably be the cause of his disqualification for the symnastic team. Certain members of the Faculty Committee, the board of directors of the Athletic Association, and the student body are opposed to Tewksbury representing the university.

and we won't stop till store and stocks are in perfect shape. Rummage Month is the time we clean house. Profits, and even cost in some instances are forgotten in our effort to straighten stocks. If we've more of a thing than we should have, we're willing to lose money on it in order to even up affairs. If we've too little of a thing, then it has lost its value—to us, though there is no more of it than what you may need, yet out it goes abroad. That's what this January Rummage Sale is for.

But worse still than that, the crowded condition of our store during December compelled us to almost stop selling certain staple lines in order to push the novelties. Now we have to pay the penalty and you are the gainers.

TALKED OF SUICIDE.

The day before, which was Friday, Sinde had visited Warter in his shop on Broadway. At that time he was very despondent, and talked to Warter of committing suicide. He rold he was out of morely and discouraged, and out of nity for the man, Warter loaned him the $2 that was found in Stade's pockets when his room was searched on Saturday.

when his room was searched on Daturday.

A. Kemppert testified at the Coroner's inquest that during the previous week he had argued haif a day with Stade to induce him not to commit suicide, which he had threatened to do.
William Aiken, who formerly roomed at the Maxwell, 'testified that he called on Stade at the latter's room on New Year's day. He found Stade in a despondent mood, and as he wished him a "Happy Near Year," Stade looked up with tears in his eyes and repiled, "This is not a happy New Year for me, and it will soon be over."

MRS. CLARK'S STORIES.

MRS. CLARK'S STORIES.

MRS. T. M. Clark, the landlady of the Maxwell, discovered the body, told her husband about it, and together they went to Peck & Chase's undertakher husband about it, and together they went to Peck & Chase's undertaking pariors to tell their acquaintance, J. W. Musselman, of Stade's death. They told Musselman that Dr. Stade was dead at their house, and they thought he had committed suicide. They wanted him to remove the body quietly, so there would be no publicity about the affair, but this he said he could not do, and notified the Coroner. When the undertakers went for the body, it was found in bed with the clothes pulled up over the left arm and shoulder, the arm being under the clothes pulled up over the left arm and shoulder, the arm being under the clothes by the side of the body. That same evening, Mrs. Clark told the detectives that when she opened Stade's door she saw his bloody face and his pale, left hand resting on top of the bed clothes. The undertaker found the left hand and arm under the bed clothes when he arrived. If Mrs. Clark's statement to the officers was correct, it is possible that the person who changed the position of the left arm and hand, and put them under the bed clothes, took the pistol, if Stade committed suicide.

PREPARING FOR NATIVE SONS.

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] The programme has already been arranged for the entertainment of the Grand Partor, Native Sons of the Golden West, which will convene here in April. Most of the delegates are expected to arrive Sunday, April 21, and that evening there will be a sacred concert at Plasa del Mar. Monday forenoon the Grand Parlor will hold its opening session, and in the afternoon carriage drives over the mountains, boulevard, and other places will be the attraction. In the evening there will be a public reception and entertainment. Tuesday, April 23, there will be a polo or football game, and the following day a railroad excursion will be run to the barbecue grounds, where a Spanish picnic, with everything good to eat and drink, will gladden the Native Sons. Thursday will be devoted to routine business, with a grand ball in the evening. The Grand Parlor's work will be closed with a banquet on Friday evening, and Saturday will be spent at the field-day sports of the Southern California Interscholastic Athletic Association. Santa Barbara is making every endeavor to accord the Native Sons the best entertainment and treatment they ever have received.

in Tanana District.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.,) Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Government officials at Eagle City are sending provisions to Circle City. Prices have gone up rapidly. Lack of food in the Tanana country precludes development. This news was brought to Skagway by Edmund N. Carter, the last man to arrive from Tanana. He was thirty-four and a half days on the road.

"Between Circle City and Eagle City," said Carter, "we met several teams loaded with food for the famine-beleaguered citissns of Circle City. The government officials at Eagle City are keeping well-informed, and there will be no starvation on the Yukon.

"While there may be grub enough to last through the winter at Circle City, there is none for prospecting, and everyone is living very economically, Flour is almost exhausted, and is selling at 320 a sack. Why there should be a shortage at Circle City, I do not know, as provision should have been made for the increased population on account of the Tanana strike. Last summer, however, hardly any goods landed there. In the Tanana country no work is being done, the two principal reasons being the shortage of food and the severity of the winter."

MAIL-CARRIERS RECORD.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SEATTLE, Jan. 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mail from Tanana, Eagle City, Fort Yukon and Forty Mile and other points on the lower Yukon River, as well as a large consignment from Dawson, reached Skagway January 8, a record trip being made every foot of the way from Tanana to White Horse. Just twenty-nine days were consumed in reaching Dawson, and from that point to White Horse, the record-breaking time of five and one-half days was made. The first mail from Nome and St. Michael is expected, being due January 10, at Skagway.

THIRTY SHAKESPEARE XXIV-CHRONOLOGICAL STUDY OF SHAKESPEARE'S PLAYS.

(1608) to "Henry VIII" (1612-13.) he continued to deal with the great problems of character and destiny. But the world that he presents knows no law save that of beauty, and the plays of this time are rightly called romances because in them the chain of causality is broken and intellect and spirit reign supreme, untouched either by weakness in themselves or by the external forces of nature. These periods Prof. Dowden respectively characterizes as "in the workshop," in the world." "out of the depths" and "on the heights."

In this broad classification of the plays several are omitted because they are in character transitional and should be studied after the lines of Shakespeare's development are clear to the student. The best introduction to Shakespeare would undoubtedly come through the study of the great works of the two central groups; that is, of those plays which deal most forcefully with actual life. To guide the studint who cannot conveniently refer to the books on the subject, the plays are here given in chronological order. The list is taken from Prof. Dowden's "Shakespeare Primer" (Macm.lian.) a little book of great value to care one beginning a careful study of Shakespeare: "Titus Andronicus." "Much. their fate. In the first group of plays the scope of his interest is already clearly defined; he is concerned with the passion that makes tragedy, with the chances and weaknesses that are the subject-matter of comedy, and with the pageant of history that best presented men in their outer activities. At this time, however, Shakespeare's interest, broad as it, was, centered on superficial matters; on the fun of trick and effectation on the physical treg-ture or characterization is found in its verse. In his youth Shakespeare habit. usily used biank verse of the more formal type, with a proportionately large number of rhyming couplets in his last dramas he practically dropped rhyme and used a blank verse that varied as widely as possible from the format, Blank verse consists of unrhymed dambic pentameter, or lines made up of five iambic feet. The accent thus naturally falls at the end of the verse, the sense often ending, or pausing somewhat, at this point.

Perhaps the most important way in which Shakespeare later modified the verse was by the running of the meaning from line to line, thus adding infinitely to the variety of poetic effect. The strength of this tendency appears in the fact that the proportion of runon lines, or lines at whose close there is no break in sense, is in "Love's Labor Lost" a little less than one in eighteen; in "Winter's Tale," a little less than one in registeen; in "Winter's Tale," a little less than one follows the fect of this change one must read aloud a number of passages, but the following selection carefully compared with the preceding one will at least suggest this characteristic quality of the later verse:

"By accident most strange, bountiful Fortune,
Now my dear lady, hath mine enemies Brought to this shore; and by my prescience
I find my senith doth-depend upon A most auspiclous star, whose influence. Brought to this shore; and by my prescience i find my senith doth-depend upon A most auspicious star, whose influence, if now I court not but omit, my fortunes will ever after droop."
—"The Tempest," Act 1, scene 2, Il.
178-184.
Another peculiarity in Shakespeare's later plays is ending the line by an additional unaccented syllable. The double or feminine ending of which the following lines are an example is a common form of this:
"This night he meaneth with a corded ladder.
To climb celestial Sylvia's chamberwindow."
Besides this "double ending" an un-they were much too small for the feet of any woman in the Land of the Seven Rivers."

Pit, the princess smiled.

"They may fit me," she said. "My feet are very small."

The sandals were produced. They were indeed dainty things, but they were a perfect fit for the princess's feet.

"I will take them," she said. "Your price?"

"Seventy silver rings."

The money was counted out by Pti's attendants, and the princess went home with the slippers. There was not another just such a pair in all Egypt. Pti, as you may imagine, was very proud of them, and very choice of them, too, and wore them only on state occasions. Seventy silver rings colld not be spent every day for a pair of shoes, even by a daughter of the Pharaohs.

The river Nile swept up close to the garden of the villa where Pti lived, and one afternoon the Princess and her maids walked down the paths to the marble pier. Pti was dressed in her best array, and one of her maids held an umbrella over her head, lest the hot sun might too rudely kiss the fair cheeks of the royal lady. Of course, she had on her jeweled slippers, and as she walked she daintily held her robe so that they might be seen. There was not a speck of dirt on strap or sandal.

The waters of the great river sparkled in the sunshine, but where a grove of paim trees tossed their branches over the waves great shadows lay. It seemed such a cool, secluded spot that the maidens were tempted to take a bath. With much noise and merry laughter they went down among the callas and lotus blossoms.

Pti and her maidens were very merry and were in the water a great while.

To climb celestial Sylvia's chamberwindow."

Besides this "double ending" an unaccented monosyllable is often added to the line, and, before a pause in the middle, one, or more unaccepted syllables follow a perfect foot. The result on the music of the verse of the simplest of these changes will be seen by contrasting the effect of the following passage with that of the lines quoted from "The Comedy of Errors:"

"Oh, it is monstrous, monstrous! Methought the billows spoke, and told me of it; The winds did sing it to me, and the thunder, That deep and dreadful organpipe, pronounced. The name of Prosper; it did bass my trexpans.

On strap or sandas. The waters of the great river waters of the sunshine, but where the sported in the such sport that the maidens were spect that the maidens were very merry and were in the water a great while. As they sported in the cool current they saw an eagle swoop down upon the shore and bear away a bright thing in its talons. The great shadow passed over them and presently became a mere speck in the sky, far above where the dark river widened in its sweep toward the midland sea.

When Pti came to dress she could not

QUAY'S VICTORY.

The Pennsylvania Legislature, after a long and fierce contest, has elected M. S. Quay a United States Benator, to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of his Senatorial term on March 4, 1898. Since that date, the State of Pennsylvania has had but one State of Pennsylvania has had but one Senator, owing to the hitter factional contest which has been waged, and in which Mr. Quay, though unable to secure his own re-election, was able to its up the Legislature in such manner as to prevent the election of any other candidate.

The opposition to Burns in California was essentially of the same character as the opposition to Quay in Pennsylvania. It was a revolt against boas rule in the party, with all that the torm implies. But the opposition to Burns had another and a strong incentive. It was a revolt against the organised jobbery of the Southern Pacific Railroad, of which corporation Burns was notoriously known to be a neradicable diagrace, by making to the defeat of Burns. NOT A BAD CENTURY.

OT A SAD CENTURY.

The belief is quite generally prevident that considerable progress was made by the human race during the sineteenth century. But it appears that this is a mistake. The Rev. Thomas R. Slicer, a clergyman of the Unitarian church, takes a very posaccomplished during that period. "We did not," says the reverend gentleman, "produce any great dramatic poetry" during the century; ergo, we made no progress, according to the Sileerian mode of reasoning. He thinks, also, that more evil than good was achieved in the source of the century. The times are out of joint, so to speak. Everything that is, is wrong, and the

There is no doubt that the firm stand taken in Gen. MacArthur's recent proclamation, classing as rebels and traitors all who continue in arms against the government after the ex-piration of the period of amnesty, has had a marked effect in bringing about the surrender of many insurgents. The certainty that those who remain re-bellious will be severely punished, when once that certainty is brought to have a salutary effect in inducing would-be rebels to do a little serious thinking. The people of the towns, too, are getting tired of paying tribute to the roving bands of plunderers who have been robbing communities and individuals in the name of Filipino "independence." In proportion as the American protection against these vagabond plunderers is increased, the peaceful inhabitants will cease to pay tribute to these robbers who falsely ose as patriots.

We hasten, however, to assure our forceful and pungent San Diego contemporary that Les Angeles is no the least bit jealous of San Diego or of Yuma. under the name of the American Linseed Oil Company.

In the language of the dispatch, "The court found that the custom of the company in selling 7% pounds of oil and amounted to short weight. In so holding, the court reversed the finding of the court below and ordered the entry of judgment against the company for $12,012 as costs. The case was test one brought by Heath & Mills gan, on a discovery by A. M. Heatn that a gallon of linseed oil in reality weighed 7% pounds instead of 7% pounds, as sold by the trust." This decision of the Appellate Cour of Illinois is important, and it is likely to have a wider application than appears on the surface. The decision opens the door for the prosecution of successful suits against the linseed individuals who have had dealings with the trust during the past five years. It does more than this. It lays a good foundation for similar suits against other trusts by customer may be able to prove that they have been systematically defrauded by short-weight sales or other dishones

The outcome of the decision will be awaited with interest. It is intimated in the Chicago dispatch that it "may mean the death blow to the trust." This is not improbable, if all the cus tomers who have been buying 71/2 pounds of oil for a gallon, for years past, put in their claims for damages. As a matter of course, the same law which protects the patrons of a trust against the particular kind of fraud above referred to will protect private seems to be a salutary and just one from every point of view.

Should Mr. Burns agree to honor California by accepting the position of United States Senator, we may of ourse expect to see Gaskells occupying high Federal positions and sell-ing privileges to the highest bidder. Some finicky people would object to this, no doubt, but then, you see, it is the way of the world, and what are you going to do about it, anyhow? It that is the sort of thing the people like, why, then that is just about the thing they want to have. If they don't like it, the only sensible way is for them to enter their protests at the polls before the deed is done. When a State Legislature is to be elected is the right time to protest. Kipling, for a "mere literary man," has been a fine financial backer for the English in the Boer war. In one way and another nearly half a million dollars has been realized out of the "Absent-Minded Beggar," which was written for war purposes.

Jenny Lind's letters to a woman friend living in Italy from 1845 to 1874 will soon be published by an Italian firm. The letters, it is reported, number over a hundred, and give the prima donna's outspoken and unconventional opinions about the music and many of the musicians of her time.

Mrs. Alfred Harmsworth, wife of the London editor who is now visiting America, was married when a mere girl and her husband was but II. She has been his professional as well as his domestic helpmest ever since. She is a tall, typical English beauty, and is possessed of that well-developed faculty of common sense which is found in so many English women of today.

R. H. Stoddard, the poet and critic, though feeble of body, is still sound of mind. At the recent Authors' Club dinner to E. C. Stedman he rose to make a speech, but his feebleness was so apparent that he was urged to sit down and talk, and he did so. He related his first introduction to Mr. Stedman in the Tribune office by Bayard Taylor, and told some reminiscences of the acquaintance which followed.

Because Richard Golden, who is now playing "Old Jed Prouty" at an Oakland theater, made love behind the scenes to Miss Alfreda Healey of that city, the wife of the actor siapped Miss. Healey in the fice and a fight occurred. It is alleged that Miss Healey left her box in the auditorium to meet Golden several times during the performance in the "alley" leading to the stage. Mrs. Golden, who had assumed the leading female role in the play, was immediately discharged by her husband. Miss Healey is the daughter of Capt. Healy, an Oakland millionaire.

BILDERRAIN THINKS HE WILL BE ACQUITTED.

BRIBERY CASE RAPIDLY COMING TO AN END.

Humane Officer Craig Repeats His Version of the Money Matter-Motion to Acquit Denied, and the Defens

The special feature of yesterday's proceedings in the Bilderrain bribery trial was the teatimony of Humane Officer W. B. Craig, whom the defendant is accused of attempting to corrupt. Craig's version of the alleged bribery varied little. If any, from his testimony as given at the preliminary examination last March.

Bilderrain entered Craig's office in Bilderrain entered Craigs office in the Palice Station after previous visits; and Craig related the conversation.

"Why, hello, Mr., Craig; I know your face," said Bilderrain. "You know me, don't you?" Craig saic he did not, but his recollectior was refreshed by Bilderrain, who said: "I am the man that runs all these political conventions and primaries around town. I think you must have seen m; around the polis."

The subject of special interest to Mr. Bilderrain was then broached, according to Mr. Craig. who gave this version of the remarks of his vestion. Sunday, and take your wife and childer out for a drive to Pasadena? We will make it right with you."

At this juncture, a visitor called at the office, and Bilderrain had to call another day. Meantime, Craig had arranged to have Chief of Police Elton overhear their next interview from a closet. The cockinghter dropped around again on March 17, and announced that eight or ten of his friends out of town, down to Santa Monica or Redondo, or take your wife out driving; and you won't know anything about it."

Butting the action to his words, Mr. Craig says, Bilderrain salapped a 220 gold piece into his hand, and sald, "I will tell you, Mr. Craig. We don't wnt what will happen, and if anybody ever says that I gave you 180, you and I can say it's a d—n lie; you quly got 115.75, you see," and then he chuckled to himself, as though it was a pretty good joke.

According to the Humane Officer and the Chief of Police, Bilderrain boasted that he had fought cocks with the sheriff and his deputies, the policemen and the Cornorer and all the officers in town Craig gave him a quarter and after Bilderrain went, out and Chief of Police, Bilderrain boasted that he had fought cocks with the sheriff and his deputies, the policemen and the Cornorer and all the officers in town Craig gave him a quarter and after Bilderrain went, out and Chief of Police, Bilderrain boasted that he had fought cocks with the sheriff and his deputies, the policemen and the Cornorer and all the officers in town Craig gave him a quarter and after Bilderrain went, out and Chief of Police, Bilderrain boasted that he had fought to cks with the sheriff and his deputies, the police in the case be dismissed.

"Sir," began Judge Smith, severely, "you are just as much to blame as if you went inside. Indeed, standing outside was werse, if any credit could attach anywhere—and there cannot—for you were where you could run if the police came, while it took sand and courage to be on the inside. The other fellows at least had some courage. The account of the south sear is now reached freelows at least had some courage. Then five years fell on the heads of them both. There had been no lenlency. Carter soaked up a tear with WON AND LOST.

PLAINTIFF'S TRIFLING SUIT. It is seldom that men go to law for nothing, or just for fun.

Judge Conrey and a jury listened to a case yesterday, wherein $9.33 was at stake.

Last month Charles Baetz began an action in the Township Court to recover $14, alleged to be due for rent from William Carney, a Southern Pacific employé, who lived at No. 1445 Naud street. Instead of $14, however, Justice James found that Carney ought to pay $9.32, and gave judgment to Baetz for that amount, but Carney, who is sure he owes no more than $3.75, appealed to the Superior Court and demanded a jury trial.

The evidence showed that landlord and tenant don't love each other as themselves.

INJUNCTION SUIT. MORE IVANPAH LITIGATION.
Litigation afresh has broken out again over the interests of the Ivanpah Smelting Company, which owns the famous Copper World mine out on the Colorado Desert, besides sixteen other mining properties that may be worth millions. The company has lately made improvements aggregating many thousands of dollars.

It will be remembered that within the past year the courts have had to pass on many allegations of fraud as to inside manipulations of the company's stock, and certain issues are still pending. MORE IVANPAH LITIGATION.

to inside manipulations of the company's stock, and certain issues are still pending.

Yesterday a suit was begun by F. C. Gay, E. Wilder and Frank Wear, all of whom are moneyed men of Kansas, against J. D. Hanbury, E. S. Blasdell, George D. Copeland, A. M. Copeland, B. W. Watlington, the Ivanpah Smelting Company, George H. Sisson, W. E. Robinson and J. E. Fishburn of this city, to enjoin the officers of the company from preventing plaintiffs from making a full investigation of the valuable property in which they are interested, and asking that an accounting be had between the company and Shaon, Hanbury and Blasdell.

It is alleged that Hanbury and his faction are endeavoring to obtain ownership of the property by big assessments and other ways. In November an assessment of $10 per share was levied to raise, funds amounting to $150,000 to be used in an alleged pretended development. It is also alleged that the minority stockholders are being oppressed to pay Hanbury and other officers of the corporation big salaries. Plaintiffs ask that the officers be enjoined from selling any stock that may become delinquent on account of the November assessment.

TECHNICAL BATTERY. Fred Schmidt was fined 31 by Justice James yesterday for battery, on complaint of an old man named John Brown, who lives near the corner of Vermont avenue and Fourth street. The court, it seems, would much more have preferred to punish Brown in the premises, but the evidency was technically against Schmidt. P. S. Lockridge, a barber on East Eighth street, had an entertaining love spat with his wife in the Police Court yesterday. The processes of justice were suspended, and the officials watched and waited with breathless interest. Mrs. Lockridge had the last word.

Night before last. Locarings came home under the influence of liquor and bade his wife defiance. She had to call in the police before he was reduced to a proper degree of humility and discipline. The copper made a dramatic Lockridge had invited his spouse to put the baby down on the bed and prepare for her tragic end, as this was to be her last night on earth. Then in walked the might and majesty of the law to the rescue of femininity in distress.

Lockridge is a meek little deaf man. He blinked with amazement and pride to hear in court what a bold figure he had cut. He made a show of indignation, however.

"Oh, say," he remarked to the policeman on the witness stand, "wasn't I in bed when you came?"

"But you were taking the covers off," reminded the officer.

When his wife took the stand, Lockridge rashly assailed her with crossquestions.

Didn't all this trouble begin because I wanted our boy to go to work?"

Mrs. Lockridge was carrying a baby in her arms. She shifted the wad to the other arm, and cast upon the barber a look of withering scorn. An abused woman is never so effective as with a baby in her arms.

"The boy is a perfect invalid," she said, cuttingly. "I have had twenty doctors,"

"Haven't I given you svery cent?" asked the barber reproachfully.

"Well, yes," admitted Mrs. Lockridge, She was temporarily put at a disadvantage, but quickly recovered. "That alint what we are talking about."

Lockridge looked at her helplessly for a moment and took his seat again with a grunt of despair.

Justice Morgan found Lockridge guilty and imposed a sentence of $10 or ten days. He stipulated, however, that the sentence would be suspended during good behavior. This did not meet with the approval of Mrs. Lockridge. She bounced up in the court. room with the approval of Mrs. Lockridge. She bounced up in the court room with the approval of Mrs. Lockridge. She bounced up in the court. "Your Honor, I won't stay in the house another night if he is going home."

"If he creates another disturbance we will arrest him again," said the court, soothingly.

"There won't be any disturbance, Tour Honor." And Lockridge, bidd, bad disturber of the night, sneaked tremulously out of the courtroom. He is wiser now.

GREEN'S COW. BOYS BRING HIM TROUBLE.

When the vigilant eye of Lester Dunn, aged 12, volunteer officer of the law, fell upon Floyd Green, law-breaker, trouble happened for Green. Green lives at No. 1504 West Eighth street and has a cow. The bovine browses verdure in a vacant lot on Ninth street.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

SAN DIEGO'S FIELDS.

SAN DIEGO'S FIELDS.

Work is moving in San Diego's field, but beyond that little can be said. The Victoris Oil Company has received the casing for its well, and will commence putting it in at once for the purpose of shutting off the water.

Operators in the Monarch well must be very weary of reporting that indications are good and oil must and will be found some time. As yet there has been little evidence of oil in the hole. Heaving sand, which is believed to be caused by gas, is the latest discovery and is accepted as a good indication.

In Hatfield Cafon, San Diego county, surface indications of oil were found recently. The discovery has stirred up quite a little interest sanong the oil men, and it is possible that the Santa Maria section will become a prominent oil center.

forsted the well will be put on the pump.

There are good indications of oil on the property of the Fox Oil Company in section $, 11, 24.

Three rigs are about ready to begin work on section $, 12, 24; on this same section, Jewett. Blodget & Beal have a first-class producer.

It is reported that the McKittrick. Consolidated reached the second sand in its well on section 18, 20, 22. The operators were compelled to go 1300 feet for it.

WHITTIER'S FIELD.

NEW STRIKE ALL THE TALK.

WHITTIER, Jan. 16.—Regular Correspondence.] The one topic of conversation among the oil men of the city today has been the strike made by the Whittier Consolidated Company, as exclusively since and in the Times of yesterday. The outlook for a good well is even better today than it was yesterday. During the night the shell on which the dilliers were at work was penetrated, and as was expected, more oil sand was discovered. The shell are forded an opportunity to shut off the water, and today the drill is working in sand similar to the first strata. The strike opens a large amount of terglicy, and has waised the price of land adjoining the company's property out of sight. The coveres of thirty acree in the immediate vicinity have refused to sell for less than $1000 an acre.

The Home Oil Company has reached a depth of 500 feet on well No. 11. Ismall strata of oil have been encountered, but it is expected that the hole will be sunk over 1000 feet before being placed on the pump.

The Palo Solo Company has over 100 feet of fourteen-inch stovepipe casing in the well it is exielling, on the Harvey property north of the city. Slight indications of oil have already been discovered. The fourteen-inch assing, which is seldom used in this field, will be carried down as far as possible in order to drill an unusually deep well if necessary.

The Union Oil Company is installing a large pump at its plant in Working a large and the voil of the which has fears about the safety of the High School students in case

DEVELOPMENT TO THE SOUTH.

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 15.—(Regular Correspondence.) The long-expected development of the south side of the Kern River field seems about to take place. There has always been much faith in that territory, but it has until now failed to take the form of money investment. This fact is perhaps due to the opportunities offered in other localities where success was absolutely assured. Now that royalties have risen in the demonstrated field to the 50-per-cent. point, the temptation to go eisewhere and assume risk, with the chance of larger reward, has grown greater. Section 17, 25 25, will soon have a rig working on it, the south half of the northeast quarter having been leased by Blodget & Harding to Ludwig & Hickey, who have operated for thirty years in the Pennsylvania and Ohio fields. They will be prepared to go to a depth of 1500 feet if necessary to get the oil, but Mr. Hickey, who is now on the ground, thinks that 1606 feet will let the drill into the pay stratum. Arrangements have been made for machinery.

The detectives have arrested another burgiar wanted in a distant place, and in addition to having the man under lock and key, they have recovered about one-half of the stolen property. The man's name is Fred Gotte, and he was a newsboy in this city about twelve years ago. He is 23 years old and left here ten years ago.

On the night of January 1 the jewelry store of Polson Bros. of Williams, Aria. was broken into By one or more burgiars, who stole seventeen gold and silver watches, two pistols, a dozen watch chains, two dozen rings and some stick plus. The thieves were able to make themselves nice New Tear's gifts, for they took about the entire stock of the Polsons.

Gotte had been hanging around Williams for some days prior to the robbery and was recognized as a crook by people who formerly knew him, As he disappeared immediately after the robbery, he was suspected, and a description of him sent out, and also the description of a man who was believed to have been connected with the burgiary.

Last Monday night local detectives were walking on San Pedro virect, between First and Second attreets, and as a young man answering Gotte's description. He was arrested and taken to the City Prison, and since then the detectives have recovered about half of the stolen property. The mater has been kept quiet since Monday, in hopes of catching the other man got wind of the arrest of Gotte and ekipped, for he cannot be found.

ple know that there was their title. The lit was only yesterday that the great anxiety burden was rolled from them, and, indeed, most of them will receive the first news to relieve the tension on their nerves as they read this morning's Times.

The last incoming mail yesterday

The last incoming mail yesterday brought to A. J. Crookshahk, Regis-trar of the United States Land Office

When the government land grant was made to the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in 1871, along the line of its proposed branch road, by an error it overlapped the grant previously made to the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad in 1886, which grant was forfeited to the government by act of Congress in 1886. Title was quieted in the United States Court in 1897, when the government brought suit against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and the said land was restored to entry September 6, 1888.

During the time the title to these tember 6, 1888.

During the time the title to these iands was in the Southern Pacific Company it sold tracts to sundry persons, all along the line of the proposed road, inserting in the contract a clause to the effect that "upon failure of the railroad company to perfect title to the land," it would refund the money paid upon the contract. HOW THE TANGLE CAME ABOUT.

government and it was again thrown open to homesteaders, the General Land Office took particular pains to protect the purchaser from the Southern Pacific Company, by giving them priority over any other settler, but the law giving him that advantage stipulated that he must be "the owner by purchase from the railroad, or by assignment," etc. Here is where the entanglement occurred. Hall had no money with which to pay the government for a reentry of his land, at the rate of $1.25 an acre, and he therefore availed himself of the clause in his contract with the Southern Pacific Company which called for the refunding of the money. On August 28, 1898, Hall received back the $204.80 that he had paid, and gave a receipt for it, which was in the nature of a transfer to the said company of all his "right, title, interest and claim in and to the within contract."

Much to the surprise of Hall, the Registrar of the Land Office in this city held that he had no title whatever city held that he had no title whatever to the land, having disposed of in assigning the contract to the Southern Pacific Company, and consequently Americus was permitted to enter the land. The General Land Office sustained this action of the local office, in a decision rendered April 19, 1960, in which the following language was used:

Will Be the Tallest Building in Los Angeles—That New Seven-story Hotel, owner by purchase from the railroad company, or by assignment, or inheritance from one who purchased from the railroad company, of some interest in the land, and it cannot be said that Hall, after executing said assignment and surrendering possession of said contract to the railroad company, was the owner of any interest either in the land or in said contract."

WIDESPREAD CONSTERNATION. It may be readily imagined that this plainly-worded decision of the General Land Office created widespread consternation among all those purchasers from the Southern Pacific Company who had recovered their money, without legal process, as soon as the government again took to itself the title of the lands in question. There were very many of these, for they decided this to be the simplest way of avoiding compilications, and many, like Hall, no doubt pursued that course because they did not have the means for making the reëntry. Like Hall, they had been anticipated by others who were more fleet-footed in filing upon the land, and they felt it slipping from their grasp by the decision in that case. A moted instanc eof this is to be found in the property of the "Squirrei Inn," a resort maintained in the San Bernardino Mountains, by a club of San Bernardino gentlemen, and on WIDESPREAD CONSTERNATION. inn, a resort maintained in the San Bernardino Mountains, by a club of San Bernardino gentlemen, and on which improvements have been made aggregating probably $30,000, and the property affected will run into the hundreds of thousands.

THE CASE REOPENED. THE CASE REOPENED.

The Hall case was taken up on motion for review on December 31, "to correct alleged error" in the former ruling of the department. This case was complicated somewhat by a second or third transfer of interest, and has no significance beyond establishing the principle that the title of the holders under the Southern Pacific Company was in no respect weakened by the fact that they recovered the money paid on contract, to that corporation, before filing on the land subsequent to September 8, 1898.

TAKES IT ALL BACK. TAKES IT ALL BACK.

TAKES IT ALL BACK.

"The case is within every provision of the statute, and is outside of every exception of it," says the opinion. "Nothing, unless it be his surrender of the contract to the company, and acceptance of the repaid purchase money for use in payment to the government of the purchase price of the land, could bar him of the benefits of the statute. Upon a further consideration of the question it is believed that the decision under review is erroneous, and that such facts would not have the effect to exclude him from the right to perfect his title under the statute. "The statute is framed to extend equitable relief to a purchaser who has been led into purchase of an invalid claim, believing he would thereby acquire title. When it was finally decided that the railroad company could not

THERE ARE MORE THAN 500 PRIZES

They will be awarded, not alone to those sending the largest number of subscriptions, but to those sending the largest number in proportion to the population of the town or city in which they work. To that end, the cities and towns have been divided into five classes, according to population. Every person entering this contest has the opportunity to win a prize in every class by taking subscriptions in other towns after completing the work in the first.

Furthermore, the aggregate number of subscriptions taken by each in the various towns will be credited to him or her in the general count, thus greatly enhancing his or her chance of winning one of the large general prizes.

Classes and Prizes.

Class One Takes in all cities with a population of 10,000 or upward. In this class there are at present 105 prizes, ranging in value from $1400 down to $5.00, and more are to be added.

Class 7200 Covers cities with from 5000 to 10,000 population. In this class there are now 77 prizes, ranging in value from $750 down to $5.00, but others will Class Three Embraces all towns with from 2500 to 5000 population. In it are 52 prizes, ranging in value from $600 down to $5.00, but more are to be added.

Class Four Includes towns of from 1000 to 2500 population. In it at present, are 84 prizes, ranging in value from $500 down to $5.00, with others to come.

Class Five Embraces towns of from 200 to 1000 population. In this class there are now listed 61 prizes, ranging in value from $250 down to $5.00, but others will be added.

The General Prizes Free-for-all. Everything Counted. Of these there are, at present, 140, ranging in value from $1500 down to $5.00, but additions are yet to be made, and the number will probably exceed 150.

Getting Subscribers for The Times,

The biggest, brightest and best newspaper on the Pacific Coast, is easy work, because, practically, everybody wants it. The subscription price for The Daily Times (seven papers a week and including the Sunday Magazine -unrivaled by any similar publication in America) is 75 cents per month or $9.00 per year, and we will under no circumstances suffer the price to be reduced to any subscriber. But during this contest, as partial remuneration for the trouble and expense they will be to, we will allow contestants 10 cents for each prepaid subscription they send in-provided the subscriber has not previously been taking the paper regularly-and a proportionate amount if the subscription is for a longer period than one month-subject, of course, to the same provision.

FIRST ORDERS may be either renewals or new subscriptions, or both-it is immaterial. But they must aggregate in months as many as ten. Whether one man subscribes for ten months or ten men for one month is all the same. It is the number of months that counts. Second and subsequent orders may be for any number the sender finds convenient.

PAYMENTS MONTHLY. A contract with an old subscriber, on a blank form that we will furnish, that he will continue taking and paying for the paper monthly for a specified time, will be accepted as a subscription for the number of months specified in the contract. A similar contract with a new subscriber will be accepted, but in neither of these cases will any commission be allowed. The subscriptions count rely in the competition for n

IT IS NOT NECESSARY that the person going to work should notify as in advance that he or she intends to enter the contest. All we require is that when sending in the first order of ten or more subscribers it should be stated that the subscriptions are to apply on our offer. Order blanks and envelopes will then be provided, for the agent's convenience.

THE CONTEST is exclusively for people not otherwise connected with The Times: and employees and attaches of the paper are prohibited from having any lot or part in its benefits. They may answer proper questions and assist contestants in their work to the extent of advising them in cases of doubt, but they must not porsonally profit by the result.

"MAY I get others to help me in securing subscriptions?" Certainly, get just as many people-men, women or children-to help you as you can; the more the better. We will credit you with all the prepaid subscriptions you send in, no matter by whom

It Is Work for Women. LIKEWISE FOR BOYS AND GIRLS UNDER 16.

To provide an opportunity for a class of people who have none too many, to earn good wages at a seemly and pleasant occupation, the benefits of this prize contest for subscriptions are confined to women, and boys and girls under 16. They will be paid cash; as they go along, for every new subscriber they secure, and in addition will have a chance at winning one or more of the prizes.

The Contest is Now On, and will continue until July 1, 1901. Subscriptions mailed on that day by contestants at any point on the Pacific Slope will be counted into the result. The count will be kept in months; a yearly subscription counting 12 months, a half-yearly six months, and so on.

IBY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.1

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The excessive confusion of speculative enthusiasm today was shown by wide and frequent fluctuations in prices, often conflicting in different groups of stocks. An evident effort was made to differentiate the movement of the steel stocks from that of the raliroads. The action of the steel group yesterday made is very evident that a decline in them was to be faced. Some effort was made at the opening to contest this, and supporting orders effected a rise of a point over last night in Steel and Wire and Tin Plate and of 1% in National Tube, but the last-named was the only one which retained any show of strength. There was some shew of support in Federal Steel early, and after an opening decline of 1%, it was railled a point, but the selling of the stock was persistent on account of the disappointment of speculators that no action was taken at yesterday's meeting to insure quarterly dividends for the coming year, in which there had been great faith. There were occasional railles in the stock, and it was lifted, vigorously at the last to two points above the lowest, but manipulation was palpable in the raily. At the low level this stock was 4% below last night, and the preferred was down 2%. Next to this Tin Plate was most actually affected, in spite of yesterday's dividend declaration, and fell an extreme i points. Colorado Fuel was down 2%. American Hoop 3: Tennessee Coal, 2%, and others of the group from 1 to 1½. The conditions in the railroad list were exceedingly irregular during the early dealings, but there were sufficient points of strength to overcome the few opening declines caused by sympathy with the London market, and with the weakness of the steel stocks. There was a manifest disposition to realize also in the coalers, and a sagging tendency at other points. St. Paul was vigorously taken in hand in the midst of the uncertainty, and marked up nearly six points, precipitating a large volume of forced buying from bears. The market g SHARES AND MONEY.

E. J. Hundiew of Colorado Springs, father of the president of the organisation, made the boys a present of a fine tent a few days since, and now they are no longer obliged to live in a dugout. The boys are all armed with air guns and have a drill after the close of school of evenings. They have been greatly harassed of late by attacks of the "Clay Diggers," an opposing valley tribe, which has somewhat decimated their members and their captain, Louis Botton, is now in the hospital.

Mrs. Hill has been an invalid for several years. For several months she has not been able to leave her bed, and some time ago Mr. Hill seriously considered the advisability, for her sake, of giving up the fight against the arbitrary action of the City Council, but the brave little woman, after considering the matter for some time, decided that it would be best for her husband to contend for the right, as they saw it, and so advised him. The presidents of two of the banks, together with many other residents, telephoned Mr. Hill early this morning, inquiring whether or not he wanted bail; that if he did to call on them for any amount. COME JUST TO LOOK Great American Importing Toa Co. BABY LAUGH

It belongs to health, for a baby, to eat and sleep, to laugh and grow fat.

But fat comes first; don't ask a scrawny baby to laugh; why, even his smile is pitiful! Fat comes first.

The way to be fat is the way to be healthy. Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil is the proper food, if he needs it; but only a little at first.

We'll send you a little to try if you like.
